

WILL CONTINUE THE SALE OF LIQUOR--LASKER

CHAIRMAN OF SHIPPING BOARD SAYS SEPARATE DECISION WILL STOP IT

Maintains Position Taken in Letter to Adolphus Busch III of St. Louis—Bases His Stand on a Ruling Given by General Counsel Chelsinger of the Shipping Board

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Sale of liquor on shipping board vessels at sea will be continued, Chairman Lasker reiterated tonight, until a separate decision has been given holding such practice illegal under the prohibition laws or until he "has been convinced of its illegality."

Mr. Lasker maintained the position taken by him in his letter to Adolphus Busch III, vice president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery company, St. Louis, despite indication that it would be made the subject of an attack in congress and by dry organizations.

Officers of the department of justice refused to comment but attention was called by some persons to an opinion on file there which was given by former acting Attorney General Frierson in 1920. Mr. Frierson held that the national prohibition act was effective upon ships flying the American flag wherever they might be.

According to high department officials a decision of an attorney general remains the official interpretation of a law until it has been revoked by court decision of a superseding opinion. Furthermore they added such opinion always stands unless request for a review comes from the same department or agency which originally requested the ruling.

SECOND ATTEMPT TO LYNCH STRAUB FOILED BY POLICE

Turn Back Fifty Men Who Drove to Lansing Last Night

(By The Associated Press)
LANSING, Mich., June 14.—A second attempt by a number of Jackson citizens to seize George Straub, alleged confessed slayer of Miss Alice Mallett, a Jackson Welfare worker was frustrated here tonight by state and local police.

Fifty men headed by Harold Mallett, brother of the slain woman, were met upon their arrival here by scores of officers who turned them back several blocks from the jail where Straub was imprisoned early today after being spirited out of Jackson.

Mallett and his companions had driven here from Jackson, after they learned where Straub was held.

Realizing the futility of any effort to gain possession of Straub after Colonel Roy C. Vandercok, commissioner of public safety, had warned them against rushing the jail, Mallett requested that he be permitted to see the prisoner.

Officers found Straub asleep in his cell. He was brought into a corridor where the Jackson men gazed at him a moment and then returned to their machines and left the city.

None of the band appeared to be armed and no effort was made to search them for arms.

Elaborate preparations had been made during the day for the expected visit and the arrival of Mallett and his companions, not only found the jail completely surrounded by officers, but all downtown streets and roads leading out of the city patrolled.

FLAG DAY SERVICES AT THE ELKS HOME

Flag day exercises were held last evening under the auspices of the Elks Lodge, at the Elks Home. Those present heard a very interesting program, which included a charming group of songs by Mrs. William Barr Brown, a reading by Mrs. P. C. Thompson, and a fine address by Hon. Carl E. Robinson. The thought expressed by the speaker was that our flag was created to represent a people and not a dynasty. Ritualistic work by members of the Elks lodge closed the program.

EASTERN PAPERS ARE ATTACKED BY SEN. M'CUMBER

Also Takes Fall Out of Eastern Seaboard Importing Houses

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 14.—Metropolitan newspapers especially of the eastern seaboard and importing houses and department stores of the country were attacked in the Senate today by Senator McCumber, Republican of North Dakota, who charged they were spreading an "insidious and poisonous propaganda" against the pending tariff bill to further their selfish interests and to maintain "extortionate" profits.

Assailing particularly New York, Boston and Philadelphia newspapers, the senate said the Republicans had decided to change their policy keeping silent on the subject of profits and were now ready to meet arguments, especially of the "so-called Republican press who have so capriciously condemned this bill."

Senator McCumber's speech precipitated replies from the Democratic side and brought a resolution by Senator Walsh, Montana, calling upon the attorney general to advise whether steps should be taken or were to be taken to establish whether a conspiracy existed among the interests mentioned by Mr. McCumber the resolution asked if such combination existed, prosecution of those suspected he instituted under the anti trust law.

Mr. McCumber said he did not believe the Watts resolution was in accordance with the situation laid before the senate. It went over a day under senate rules.

Senator Underwood, Democratic leader, characterized the tariff leader's stand as "most remarkable and entirely new in tariff discussion." He declared that on the position taken by Mr. McCumber the Republican protectionists had left no longer any appeal to American manufacturers or labor.

Mr. McCumber presented numerous articles usually imported for sale by a department store. Using the articles on which both the foreign and retail selling prices had been obtained as examples to illustrate his speech he described what he characterized as "the enormous frauds perpetrated on the American people."

Article after article was held up before the senators. There was a cuckoo clock made in Germany, Mr. McCumber said for 94 cents and sold in New York at $22; a string of pearls from France costing $12.50 and sold here at $150; electric bulbs made for 5.3 cents and retailed in America at 30 cents; kid gloves invoiced at 27 cents and retailed at $2; a straw hat of English make, bought there at 69 cents and sold here for $4. Wool blankets and carving sets and curling irons, hair clippers and briar pipes were among the exhibits.

"And the men who handle these are the men who are lighting this tariff bill," Mr. McCumber shouted. "They don't want to give up robbing and taking the very life blood of this country."

TRIAL OF GREEKS IS NEARING CLOSE IN ADAMS COUNTY

State's Attorney Says He Will Try Other Two Charges

(By The Associated Press)
QUINCY, Ill., June 14.—The third week of the trial of the 29 Greeks for the murder of Sheriff Lashbrook began today, the last two witnesses for the state being heard in rebuttal, but none for the defense. The rest of the day was taken up in arguments which will be continued Thursday, one for the defense and one for the state still to be heard.

Asked if he would prosecute the other two cases against the Greeks in case of an acquittal, State's Attorney Paul Mournin said he would. There are two more cases, one for murder of Frank Utter and the other for the slaying of Carl Neff. The present trial is for the killing of Sheriff Lashbrook.

The principal argument of the day for the defense was made by Attorney John E. Wall who said he did not want a compromise verdict, claiming that the men were either guilty or innocent. There was no testimony, he claimed, to show that the sheriff had been killed by shots from the Greeks.

CHICAGO PREACHER URGES PREACHING THE WORD OF GOD

Says Ministers are Overworking "Flappers," and Other Subjects

(By The Associated Press)
DECATUR, Ill., June 14.—Current events, popular novels and the erring ways of the "flapper" are being overworked as the subject of sermons from American pulpits, Rev. John Timothy Stone of Chicago told delegates to the Presbyterian conference here this evening.

"I have no sympathy with preachers who dwell on the topics of the day to the neglect of the word of God," said Rev. Mr. Stone in an address in which he urged upon pastors a return to sermons based upon exposition of the bible.

"Getting an audience is not the great object of a preacher," he said. "You cannot find an instance in the New Testament where Christ sought the multitude. The multitude sought him, but he spent the majority of his time in the ministry talking to an audience of twelve."

Six hundred Presbyterian ministers and laymen, representing all churches of the denomination in Illinois, are present for the social conference being conducted on the campus of James Millikin University. Leaders of various sections into which the assembly is divided include, in addition to Rev. Mr. Stone, Professor Cleland B. McAfee and Prof. G. L. Robinson of McCormick Theological Seminary. Rev. William Hiram Foulkes head of the new era movement, New York; Rev. William P. Shrivley, Rev. John McDowell, and Rev. W. H. Wilson, New York and Rev. Asa J. Ferry pastor of Edgewater Presbyterian church, Chicago.

TWO REPORTS ON SUPREME COURT TO BE RECEIVED

Con Con Will Hear Them at Its Session This Morning

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 14.—Two reports on the supreme court section, a minority and majority report will be given to the constitutional convention tomorrow morning by the committee on schedule. The majority report provides for the election of the second justice from the first district, Cook county, when the constitution is submitted to the vote of the people, that his term shall not expire until 1933, that terms of the successors to the present justices shall be 9, 10 or 12 years in order that the next election shall fall on an off year that is, not a presidential election year; that the terms of each justice shall be ten years after the date of the first election; that the justices from the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth districts shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the year their terms expire and that justices from Cook county shall be elected on the first Monday of June in the year their terms expire. It does not provide for the extension of the terms of any of the present justices.

But the minority report favors the extension of the term of Justice James H. Cartwright until 1927 and extends the terms of Justice Carter three years, Justice Dunn, Justice Duncan, Justice Fannin and Justice Thompson one year. Justice Stone's term is not extended because it falls on an odd year. Under this plan there will be eight justices on the bench. That seven only may be active the report provides that one member from either the first or second district shall be elected administrative executive without privilege to hear cases.

Efforts of delegates today to secure for Chicago approval of the convention to a section granting municipal ownership of transportation and water utilities failed.

Indications are that the proposition will die in the records.

Power was given the legislature to authorize an appropriation of $10,000,000 additional to the $20,000,000 approved by vote of the people, for completion of the waterway.

ORGANIZED LABOR WOULD GIVE VETO POWER TO CONGRESS

Would Give it Power to Veto Supreme Court Decisions

(By The Associated Press)
CINCINNATI, June 14.—Organized labor indicated a determination at the American Federation of Labor convention today that it would start a drive for a constitutional amendment for a congressional veto of supreme court decisions and for the denial of the power of lower federal courts to set aside a federal law as unconstitutional.

This, delegates were informed, would overcome decisions which labor has regarded as inimical to its interests.

The only formal action, was unanimous adoption of a motion creating a special committee to frame a policy which action was taken after the proposal for the amendment had been made by Senator LaFollette. Other speakers approved the program as practical and the delegates voted approval. The suggestion of a drive for the amendment came in the midst of a program devoted to condemnation of child labor.

The address of Senator LaFollette centered attacks on the supreme court which twice declared the federal child labor law unconstitutional. In authorizing appointment of the special committee the delegates voted to vest in it authority to consider all decisions of the law few years which the federation has branded as inimical to organized labor.

Hisses Greet Taft's Name

Senator LaFollette contended that the federal courts had by gradual encroachments, "wrested sovereignty from the people" and he cited the child labor law decision. Hisses greeted the senator's first mention of Chief Justice Taft, but these changed to applause as he declared Taft was repudiated when a second "No one will contend," said the senator, "that he could have been elected chief justice by the people."

Applause came frequently and the delegates arose and cheered when President Coolidge informed them that today was the 67th birthday anniversary of the senator.

T. V. McCullough of the International Typographical Union endorsed the LaFollette amendment as practical asserting that "a great day's work for the race the world around" had been accomplished by consideration of the child labor problem. William Green of the United Mine Workers said the reactionary wave that followed the war had turned and he asserted his belief that a constitutional amendment was possible.

Results in the Indiana, Pennsylvania and Iowa primaries were cited by Mr. Green as proof that the pendulum of reactionary forces was falling back.

REPLY TO LASKER'S LETTERS ISSUED BY BUSCH AT ST. LOUIS

Defends Letter to President Harding Calling His Attention to Violation of the Volstead Law by the Shipping Board—Mr. Busch is Hot Under the Collar and Also Very Dry

(By The Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14.—The statement that Chairman Lasker of the shipping board "misunderstood and therefore assailed," the motive of Adolphus Busch III, and his father, August A. Busch, president of the Anheuser Busch Company, Inc., in writing to President Harding regarding the sale of liquor aboard the Steamship George Washington, a shipping board vessel, and the violation of the prohibition act, is embodied in a second letter of Adolphus Busch III, given to The Associated Press tonight in reply to the letter to Chairman Lasker, given out in Washington today.

The letter dated today from this city says:

"I have read in today's St. Louis papers what purports to be a letter from you addressed to me from Washington, D. C., under date of yesterday, the 13th inst. I have no doubt the letter will reach me in due course and I am taking it for granted the newspapers have correctly reproduced the letter. It refers to my letter of the 8th inst. addressed to the president-complaining of violation of the Volstead law by the shipping board, a department of the United States government.

"Inasmuch as you again resort to the argument that our passenger ships cannot get business unless they do the thing which we charge is being unlawfully done, I am bound to consider that you admit the truth of the charge. On our behalf I admit the correctness of your charge that we are selfish in that we seek to again have the lawful right to manufacture beer. If this is selfishness, let it go at that. We, in that respect at least, have the shipping board as an example. The shipping board desires to maintain the value as a going business of the government's investment in merchant ships; while we are selfish in hoping that our investment of many millions may be saved thru a restoration of the lawful right to make wholesome beer.

"You have misunderstood and therefore assailed our motive in writing the president of the 8th instant, as we did. Our motive is to remind the chief executive that the cumulative violations of the Volstead law on land and sea destroy the investment of law-abiding manufacturers who might otherwise preserve their investment and at the same time, endeavor, as we are endeavoring, to have restored by an amendment to the law, the right to make beer.

"Respecting your entirely irrelevant intimation that we are German sympathizers we remind you that all the facts and most of the falsehoods on that point were thoroughly dealt with and disposed of finally by the federal government during the war. See the files.

Feels Flattered.

"You flatter me by your suggestion that I have so much power as to be able to affect, adversely, the American and promote the German merchant marine. Whether this is a compliment or an accusation, its obvious absurdity must constitute its own answer.

"We seek no controversy with you or your board. We reiterate the charge that your board without taking the trouble to get the law amended, violates for profit a law which we have always observed and which we are trying to have amended because it cannot be enforced. You suggest that we do not come to the bar of public opinion with clean hands. It has cost us millions of dollars to keep them clean and we remind you that we have in this correspondence repeated our demand for a congressional investigation.

"The temperature in my office is well above 90 and the law prohibits me from making a glass of wholesome beer. Yet, as I write, I contemplate the shipping board approving vouchers for the disbursement of American government money from the treasury in payment for German and British beers and wines to be sold by our government at a profit. The prospect does not, I assure you, tend to lower the temperature."

Court Adjourns to Allow Checking up of 10,000 Exhibits

(By The Associated Press)
WAUKESHA, Ill., June 14.—With but two more witnesses in sight, the state is expected to close its case against Governor Len Small on trial charged with conspiracy to defraud the state of interest on state funds tomorrow or Friday. The trial was adjourned until tomorrow morning early today to give the state an opportunity to check over 10,000 state exhibits to see that all have been identified.

Donald Currier, accountant for the prosecution will resume the stand tomorrow in an effort to introduce tabulation showing the details and totals of alleged transactions by which the Governor, Lieutenant Governor Fred E. Sterling, and Vernon Curtis are charged with conspiring to defraud the state.

The state delivered to the defense a copy of a tabulation prepared by Mr. Currier showing a recapitulation of all the evidence. According to this tabulation $967,337.74 in interest on state funds was earned during Governor Small's term as state treasurer and $1,167,797.91 during Mr. Sterling's term. Interest paid to the treasury by Mr. Small on all state funds according to the tabulations, was $450,010.12 while Mr. Sterling returned about $550,000, the report showed.

The six younger jurymen went to Chicago to see a ball game during their half holiday today.

At least three houses have been advertised for rent within recent days. Now doesn't that look like a real return to normal?

The Illinois State Medical society has decided to hold the next annual convention in May, 1923, in Decatur, Ill., with a commodious hotel erected in Jacksonville, this city can well be a candidate for the 1924 convention.

Instead of having congress review acts of the supreme court, why not abolish the court altogether? Wouldn't it be better still to devise some plan whereby the supreme court findings that happen to please us are retained and those that are displeasing and therefore certainly wrong, abolished.

Referring to Mr. Scarborough's $50,000 gift, just bear in mind that it is a gift with a guarantee. The donor has presented a farm to the college, will sell the land and promises if the property sells for less than $50,000 to make good the deficit in cash. Probably the college wouldn't have refused the gift even without this generous guarantee.

Hundreds of phones of the Illinois Co., are out of commission. This is bad for the company and the subscribers, but means a lot of work for the linemen. It will be necessary to keep many extra workers on the job for weeks in order to repair all the damage done. It's an ill wind, etc.

There must be a number of wealthy and well disposed people over at Payson, Mr. Scarborough has just given Illinois College $50,000, and now comes Mr. Seymour, also a Payson resident, with a gift of $15,000 to purchase a camping site for the use of the state Y. M. C. A. The next time we have a campaign for funds, why not send a committee over to Payson?

There is no measure now pending before Congress in more imperative need of early enactment than the merchant marine bill. Every day that American ship owners and operators are denied the relief that its provisions will afford means that when the bill eventually becomes law there will be just that much added difficulty in recovering from the deadly foreign competition that now besets our ocean commerce. President Harding has sensed the situation and is doing everything he properly can to expedite consideration of the measure.

The bill is pending in the House, and must then go to the Senate, where also the tariff bill is under discussion. But not even the tariff should be permitted to hinder the enactment of merchant marine relief. There is little use in building up our industries by tariff protection, if our exports are to be carried in foreign ships subject to the whims of foreign owners. The exigencies of war or of business competition may cause the withdrawal of those ships from the American trade at any time, leaving the American exporter to find his cargo carrier as best he may.

Illinois College Endowment Campaign Closes Successfully

Announcement Made at Commencement Exercises of Completion of $375,000 Fund—

Pres. Rammelkamp Tells of Year of Growth—Addresses Made by M. A. Traylor of Chicago and Rolla Wells of St. Louis—Diplomas Were Awarded to Large Class

Naturally great enthusiasm was shown at the commencement exercises of Illinois College Wednesday morning when President Rammelkamp was able to announce the completion of the new endowment fund of $375,000. For two years the work of raising this fund has been in progress and the victory came thru the loyal cooperation of the alumni and friends of the college.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars was pledged thru the Rockefeller foundation and the largest individual gift was $50,000 from Mr. Henry Scarborough of Payson, Ill., in memory of his father. The commencement program included addresses by M. A. Traylor, president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, and Mr. Rolla Wells, former governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis.

Several members of the class also gave orations. Honorary degrees were conferred upon Mr. Traylor and Dr. Josephine Milligan.

The ninety-third commencement of Illinois College is a matter of history. The occasion was all that could be asked and friends of the old institution have all reason to be proud of its achievements of the men in charge of its affairs.

At the appointed time faculty, trustees, graduating class, alumni, classes of '72 and '73 and others entitled to be in the procession, gathered at the gymnasium and marched to the platform erected under the trees on the campus where the exercises were to be held. Excellent music was supplied by Goodrick's orchestra and all was auspicious for the occasion. President Rammelkamp presided and announced Rev. M. J. Pontius who pronounced the invocation.

Miss Helen Louise Jones of the graduating class delivered an oration on "Influence of Ancient Thought." A short outline is given:

"The fountain head of literature is in the thoughts of the ancients for our guidance and assistance in framing our own language and ideas. 'A knowledge of the ancient languages is invaluable for us today for at best translations cannot always fully convey the thoughts intended by the author. From the nations of the past we may gather much that is for the best welfare of the present day.' 'Science in Human Progress' was the theme of an oration by Ernest Glen Weaver of the Class of '22. The history of civilization is fraught with the environment of that day. Men have ever traveled along the paths of culture. The faith and courage of man are great elements of success."

"The world is old yet we need the beacon light of science. Men have been persecuted and executed for their views on scientific subjects yet those martyrs blazed the way for future greater attainments. Great benefits await the patient investigator in the fields of progress and science. A Pioneer in Education. Hon. Rolla Wells of St. Louis, spoke on the life and character of Captain John Henry, the speaker's maternal grandfather. In introducing the speaker President Rammelkamp remarked that Captain Henry was a friend of Illinois College and when a member of the Illinois legislature he introduced the bill for the charter of the Jacksonville Female Academy.

Mr. Wells said in brief: "Captain Henry was one of the pioneers who blazed the way for the advance of civilization. When on his deathbed as a friend and minister approached his bedside he said he didn't wish the occasion to be a deathbed confession. He was ever frank, genial and kindly and not spoiled by success. 'His ancestors were born in Kentucky where they went about 1779. There he was born and came to this locality in 1828 and two first meetings of the trustees of Illinois College were held in his shop. He was a member of both houses of the state legislature and once was elected to the congress of the United States. He had many friends; among them the William Russell and Richard Yates with whom he sat for two terms in the state legislature. 'Among his other friends was Col. James Dunlap, builder of the first railroad between this place and Meredosia; Gov. Reynolds with whom he went as captain to the Black Hawk War; Gov. Joseph Duncan, John Eades, uncle of J. B. Eades, engineer of the great St. Louis bridge; Cornelius Goltra, contractor; A. K. Barber, one of the country's first teachers; Dr. John Challans who read the Declaration of Independence at a celebration in 1829; John J. Hardin, Misses Ellis and Spencer, early teachers; Robert Goudy, attorney, the man who founded the first newspaper of the county, George Hackett, James Parkinson, Judge William Thomas, Samuel Prosser and many others. Coming to the founding of the grand superstructure we are now enjoying. He also brought from Kentucky 'Selim' the first thoroughbred horse ever here and which lived 24 years. 'Captain Henry was a man of strong character yet kindly and ready to aid any good and worthy cause. He was rugged in his simplicity, stern in his performance of duty and genial at home and among his friends, in short the type of the grand face of pioneers who builded so much better than they knew.' A Three-Fold Theme.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, was introduced by Dr. Rammelkamp with highly complimentary remarks. His theme was 'Problems, Perils, Patience and Pluck,' and he said in part: "This is the happiest moment of my life marked only by the hesitation with which I approach the subject on which I am to speak. In participation in these exercises I am realizing the dream of my life. The problems which confront our country today are full of peril to a free government, but if solved correctly with perseverance and patience the land will emerge free and untrammelled from evil influence. A new era has dawned upon the land, which began in 1914. Few will disagree with the statement that during 1861-65 the United States entered on a new era with a new view of life after Appomattox.

"The civilization of Rome was supposed to end in 476 but its influence will be felt while this country endures. Prior to 1914 our country was moving along with a safe feeling in our isolation and independence of other nations and we felt we were going to have a good time no matter what the rest of the world thought, and felt. Then suddenly when the old world was mobilized and Belgium invaded we awoke to the fact that we were by no means isolated and unconcerned regarding other nations of the world.

"The Federal Reserve Bank system saved the nation from a great panic. Our country had been a large borrower and we supplied them with a great amount of goods and took our own securities in payment. The failure of a silk mill in Italy precipitated the panic of 1920 and we see that we cannot feel safely shut in by found walls no matter what our desires may be.

U. S. Duty Not Completed. "Had our country not gone to the aid of her allies the result of the great war would have been far different and our own land would have felt the tyrant's heel most thoroughly. We did aid in the war and our duty is not done. The nations of Europe are prostrated and it is our duty to assist them to rise again. They must have help in their present condition. They need advice and that we are able to bestow. With all its many faults and imperfections I think the failure to ratify the treaty of Versailles was a great calamity. It would have cemented the nations in closer bonds of fellowship and made easier our duty and the performance of our moral obligations to the prostrate nations so needing our aid in their time of trouble.

"Our markets are another great problem. We should try to equal production with demand. The railroads, taxation and many other things need most careful legislation such as they are not getting at Washington just now. We are slowly but surely moving to dangerous ground. We are too eager for money, ease, luxury, wealth and are too selfish in it all.

"On the other hand we must remember that the government can't do it all. When a man talks to you about government control, ownership or management avoid him at once. We see in Russia the result of some of those theories carried to their logical conclusion. I am not a nationalist, but the contrary.

"Our vast foreign population furnishes another serious problem. How are they all to be assimilated? How are they to be made good and desirable citizens? We cannot all at once settle our obligations. The debts of the great war cannot be settled in 25 years nor a hundred years.

"This is the day for educated persons. You are on the threshold of life with great problems before you and you are fitted to give material aid in solving them. Do you duty without flinching or hesitation. The eyes of the world are upon you and your responsibilities are large. Do not avoid them but undertake their solution in the right way and act so that 25 years hence you will be glad that you took the course you are taking. Be ready to give and take. Do not hesitate but be determined you will win. Do good to all and remember you have a grand opportunity.

The gentleman closed with the poem entitled: "The Little House By the Side of the Road."

ARMSTRONG'S Drug Store

Make Remarkable Offer to Any Person in Jacksonville Who is Weak, Sick, Nervous or Run-Down

It is Now Possible for You to Come to This Store, Buy a Regular $1.10 Package of Nuxated Iron, Use it for Two Weeks, and If at the End of That Time You Have Not Received All, and Even Greater Benefits Than You Expect, Simply Bring the Wrapper back to Armstrong's Drug Store and We Will Cheerfully Hand You Back Your Money.

It is now possible for you to come to this store, buy a regular $1.10 package of Nuxated Iron, use it for two weeks, and if at the end of that time you have not received all, and even greater benefits than you expect, simply bring the wrapper back to Armstrong's Drug Store and we will cheerfully hand you back your money.

Jacksonville people may well ask how we can afford to make this remarkable "Satisfaction or Money Back" offer. Medical examinations by physicians all over the country show that an amazing number of people lack 100% iron in their blood. At a recent conference, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Out Door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said, "Without iron, life so seriously weakens their vital organs as to lead them to believe that they have heart or stomach trouble, kidney disease, nerve force exhaustion or some other serious ailment. I have had people come to me thinking they had heart trouble, because they often had pains and palpitation of the heart, sudden dizziness, faintness or spots before the eyes. In a great many of these cases the moment iron was supplied, all of these symptoms disappeared." We make this offer because Genuine Nuxated Iron contains true organic iron like the iron in your blood. So many people are deficient in iron who would surely be benefited by this remarkable remedy, that we recommend that you come right to Armstrong's Drug Store and get your bottle of Nuxated Iron. Use it for two weeks, and note the improvement in your own ease in strength, energy and endurance. If you are not more than surprised at the results just bring back the wrapper and we will promptly refund your money without question.

DUNCAN MEMORIAL IS DEDICATED WEDNESDAY

Interesting Program Was Carried Out on the Lawn; Addresses by H. H. Bancroft and Supt. Blair.

Impressive ceremonies held yesterday afternoon marked the formal dedication of the Governor Joseph Duncan Memorial, the Reverend James Caldwell Chapter House of the D. A. R. Hundreds of people from Jacksonville and Morgan county gathered on the east lawn of the Duncan Memorial Home at four o'clock for the patriotic services held in commemoration of Flag Day, and as a celebration of the completing of the placing of the memorial tablets. A number of talks were made by local people and Superintendent Francis G. Blair, of Springfield made the principal address of the day, taking as his subject, "Educational Value of Historical Memorials."

The program opened at four o'clock with the bugle call given by C. A. Sheppard. The salute to the flag was given by the audience led by Mrs. Barr Brown, the regent of the chapter. Rev. W. H. Marbach, of State Street church, gave the Lord's Prayer and this was followed by a short address of welcome by Mrs. Barr Brown, the regent. Mrs. Brown in welcoming the guests said in part:

"As Regent of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, it is my privilege as well as my very great pleasure in behalf of the chapter, to welcome you to this celebration. It is indeed fitting that the dedication of the Duncan Memorial at Home should take place on Flag Day, because the memorial like the day, stands for the encouragement of the spirit of patriotism.

"As a chapter we are justly proud to possess this pioneer governor's home and these beautiful grounds and we are most happy today over the fulfillment of plans long ago carefully made. We look forward to large possibilities in the future.

"We hope this memorial will mean much to the citizens of Jacksonville and Morgan county and we sincerely trust that it will prove to be a center not only of social interest but also of many widespread and wholesome community enterprises.

Mrs. A. L. Adams as local president of the Children of the American Revolution, then presented the thirty-five children of the Ellen Hardin Walworth Chapter, who gave the American's Creed.

Presents Chapter House
Mrs. Carl E. Black, the chairman of the Tablet Committee, with a few well chosen words presented the Chapter House. Mrs. Black said that the plan to obtain the Duncan home for a chapter house had been conceived three years ago and that now the dream had been realized. "The tracing of ancestry is no longer considered a fad; it has assumed the dignity of a family duty. The recollections and traditions of the past have been rescued from the memories of the oldest inhabitants and saved for the use of the historian," said Mrs. Black. Service is the keynote of the D. A. R. and in closing Mrs. Black said that the Chapter house was turned over to the members of the chapter with the hope that it will help in broadening human sympathies and in the extension of patriotic education and love of country. Mrs. Barr Brown, as regent of the chapter said a few words of gracious acceptance and then introduced Miss S. M. Fairbank as chairman of the day.

Outgrowth of Centennial
Miss Fairbank brought out the fact that the Duncan homestead as a historical spot is an outgrowth of the Illinois State Centennial, the suggestion of H. H. Bancroft, assistant director of the Centennial. It was thru the courtesy of Mrs. Edward Kirby that the first meeting of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter for the year 1919-20 was held in the Kirby home in the same rooms that saw the organization of the chapter in 1896.

In February of 1920 the chapter was incorporated that it might legally hold real estate and May 1st, 1920 the Duncan-Kirby home became the property of the chapter. Miss Fairbank paid tribute to the members of the Tablet Committee who thru their untiring devotion and energy have made possible the erection of the marble tablets. The room where have been erected the Gold Star tablets in memory of Morgan County boys who paid the supreme sacrifice during the recent war, Miss Fairbank termed the "Shrine of Our Chapter House." She gave in behalf of the chapter, grateful thanks and acknowledgement to all subscribers and donors whose cooperation has made possible the memorial as it stands today.

The audience joined in the singing of Washington's favorite hymn, "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past." Miss Fairbank then introduced H. H. Bancroft who made an interesting and inspiring address on the subject of "Joseph Duncan and His Contemporaries."

Pays Tribute to Chapter

"I confess to a feeling of emotion as I stand in the presence of this company and realize that the Duncan Memorial is no longer an enterprise in contemplation but an undertaking accomplished. If it was my good fortune to originate the thought of this enterprise it might have perished as a thought but for the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R., a loyal and courageous company of women without whose fostering care, enthusiastic and unceasing effort such a day as this could never have been.

To Mrs. Edward P. Kirby whose vision and generous offer made possible the enterprise, to Past Regent Miss Maria Fairbank under whose leadership, splendid energy and devotion the work has gone forward, to Mr. Gates Strawn whose aid and sponsorship of the enterprise from its inception has been invaluable, to Judge E. P. Brockhouse, for most helpful service and advice at the time of the incorporation of the chapter, to Mr. Buckingham supervising architect who has given so generously of his time, to Mrs. Carl E. Black, chairman of the Tablet Committee and her faithful co-workers, to the loyal Daughters themselves and to generous friends outside, to these our community and the State at large owes a debt of gratitude for the preservation of this pioneer governor's home and its dedication to the high purpose of history and patriotism.

The past has been glorious, the future is bright with promise under the regency of Mrs. William Barr Brown.

Held Commanding Place
Joseph Duncan, fifth governor of Illinois occupied a place of commanding influence in the history of Illinois. He is the only person that has been elected governor without making a speech or a political canvass. As soldier, state senator, congressman, governor, patron of education thru his introduction of the first free school law and later thru his service as college trustee he touched the pioneer history of Illinois at many angles and with uniform success. Among his contemporaries in Illinois were Governor Edward Coles, Governor Edwards, Governor Reynolds, Samuel D. Lockwood, Daniel P. Cook. Among men of prominence who entered public life during his term of governor may be mentioned Lincoln, Douglas, Shields, Browning, Baker and Logan.

Ford, in his history of Illinois (and remember Ford was his political opponent), says of Duncan: "He was a brave and honest man, a gentleman in his intercourse with society, and possessed a rare talent for conciliating affections and inspiring confidence." Joseph Duncan died at the age of fifty beloved by men of all parties.

May this home which he built prove to be a patriotic shrine indeed and may this enterprise under the direction of the James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R. be to Jacksonville what Mt. Vernon is to Washington."

Mrs. Helen Brown Read, who has been so actively identified with the work of the local D. A. R. chapter then sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard. Mrs. Read chose as her selections, "The Lord Is My Light," by Allston, "The Lord of the Land and the Deep," an invocation by Williams; and "The Day at the Spring," by Mrs. H. H. Beach. Following these songs Francis G. Blair of Springfield, State Superintendent of Public Instruction was introduced and made an address on "The Educational Value of Historical Memorials."

Superintendent Blair began his address by giving Herbert Huxley's definition of education. "Education," says Huxley "is to create in the mind and heart of the child a world of ideas which will be transmitted to the world outside." It is easy to create ideas of trees and concrete articles but it is difficult to recreate the world of the past by constructive imagination.

Value of Past Ideas
"We teach our children by books and if we have sufficient imagination and can inculcate imagination in their hearts we can re-create the world of the past in the mind of the child. In reconstructing for our youth the history of the past we need as much concrete detail as possible. Our museums filled with articles of the past such as spinning wheels, water mills, and other articles of the intimate life of the past which make it possible for the youth to see more clearly the kind of life which our ancestors lived. It we can possess and preserve the homes of distinguished men and places of historical interest we can more easily create for our children the ideals of the past."

Mr. Blair closed with a few words of congratulation to the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter in making possible the preserving of the Duncan home as a historical spot which will always mean much to the children of Jacksonville and of the whole state, in creating and instilling in them the noble ideals and achievements of a past generation.

Mrs. Barr Brown the regent sang the beautiful and inspiring patriotic song, "America the Beautiful," and the benediction by Reverend M. L. Pontius closed the ceremonies.

The first committee appointed to investigate the purchasing of the Duncan Memorial was composed of Mrs. Clara G. Alexander, Lillian I. Danskin and Mrs. Jennie R. Capps. Mrs. Carl E. Black is the chairman of the tablet committee and the other members of this committee whose efforts have made possible the erection of the marble tablets, are Mrs. Anna G. Ehlin, Mrs. Fannie B. Weir, Mrs. Clara K. Moore, Mrs. Clara G. Alexander, Mrs. Jennie R. Capps, Miss Lucy Mount, Miss Ellis Trabe, Mrs. Ethel H. Harber, Miss Frances Wood, Mrs. Jean M. Taylor, Mrs. Anita W. Brockhouse, and Mrs. Lillian I. Danskin.

BURGLARS ATTEMPT TO BLOW SAFE

Unsuccessful Attempt Made at Mackey & Davidson's Grocery in East North Street

Yeggs made an unsuccessful attempt to blow the safe in the grocery store of Mackey & Davidson in East North street about 2 o'clock this morning.

The sound of the explosion was heard by Otto Ferguson, night expressman at the Chicago & Alton station. When Patrolmen Williams and Blue arrived at the station to meet the Hummer he told them of the sound of the explosion.

The officers investigated and found the door of the grocery open. Going inside they found that the combination had been broken from the safe and a charge of "soup" inserted. The yeggs fired the charge with a battery from the outside.

They did not use enough however, for the door was intact though the safe is badly damaged. No trace of the yeggs was found as they evidently made a hurried getaway.

ILLINOIS OPERATORS TREATED UNFAIRLY FARRINGTON SAYS

Believes They Will Go Along With Any Reasonable Plan

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, O., June 14—Frank Farrington, president of the United Mine Workers of Illinois stated tonight when informed of a statement that Illinois Coal Operators definitely had refused to enter into a conference with operators of other states looking toward a settlement of the coal strike that he believed the "Illinois Operators would go along with any reasonable plan."

Mr. Farrington declared that the Illinois operators had not been treated fairly in the negotiations and said that they had "been made to look like monkeys."

"We have not been advised of any plans international President Lewis has for the settlement of the strike," Mr. Farrington stated, "but we have our hat in our hands ready to go any place Mr. Lewis asks us to go for a conference with the operators."

Mr. Farrington explained that on two previous occasions the Illinois operators had agreed to attend conferences to discuss a settlement. On both occasions the proposed conference was called off by President Lewis after Pittsburgh operators had declined.

One conference, Mr. Farrington said, was to have been held in Pittsburgh and the other in Cleveland.

"If they were willing to go into this proposed conference then I would think they would be willing to enter the proposed conference of operators who are outside the Pittsburgh vein operators association if they had been invited," he stated.

CORD TIRES

USE your judgment in tire buying. A tire that does not show strength and a springy resistance when flexed under hand pressure will not give adequate endurance under road wear. SIMPLE APPLICATION THAT DISSOLVES BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in a natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the calomel powder and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED

Operation Avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dayton, Ohio.—"I had such pains that I had to be turned in bed every time I wished to move. They said an operation was necessary. My mother would keep saying: 'Why don't you take Pinkham's, Henrietta?' and I'd say, 'Oh, mamma, I've tried too much.' One day she said, 'Let me get you one bottle of each kind. You won't be out very much if it don't help you.' I don't know if you will believe me or not, but I only took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and one of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine when I began to get relief and I am regular ever since without a pain or a headache.

When I lie down I can get up without help and without pain. I can't begin to tell you how I feel and look. I have begun to gain in weight and look more like I ought to. I think every day of ways I have been helped. Any one who does not believe me can write to me and I will tell them what shape I was in. I am ready to do anything I can to help your medicine."

MARRIAGE VOWS SAID IN LAWN SERVICE

Impressive Rites For Miss Frances Nichols and Stanley H. Wright Wednesday Night.

Nothing was lacking that could lend impressiveness to the marriage of Miss Frances Nichols and Mr. Stanley H. Wright, solemnized Wednesday night at the Nichols home on West College street. The vows were spoken as the wedding party stood beneath a bower of green foliage with a background of flags.

In the service itself Rev. M. L. Pontius, the officiating clergyman, made reference to the fact that the wedding date and flag day were identical.

A bank of foliage at the west and south sides of the lawn made an attractive enclosure and there the guests were seated. Shaded electric lights gave a soft glow and made the scene the more attractive.

Miss Nichols was attended by Miss Ursula Fawcett as maid of honor and Mr. Wright's best man was Mr. Richard Reynolds. The double ring ceremony was used and as the bride and groom knelt at the altar the minister pronounced them man and wife.

Before the ceremony began Mrs. Gregory Clemons of Virden sang "At Dawning." Then as the Conservatory orchestra played wedding music, members of the wedding party moved from the porch to the lawn.

Little flower girls, daintily dressed, came first, Margaret Eaton, Frances and Alice Huber, Virginia Mullenix and Margaret Spoonits. Miss Fawcett preceded the bride, who was with her father, S. W. Nichols.

The bride's gown was of white georgette made with a flowing veil. She wore orange blossoms and carried a gorgeous bridal bouquet. Miss Fawcett's gown was of green organdy and her bouquet was of sweet peas.

The ceremony was said as music softly sounded and after the vows had been spoken the orchestra gave a brief program. Congratulations hearty and sincere were extended by relatives and intimate friends who made up this wedding company. Refreshments were served on the lawn, Mullenix and Hamilton catering.

Those who received the guests were Mrs. G. B. Andre, Mrs. Charles Fawcett, Mrs. H. C. Clement, Mrs. J. W. Larson, Mrs. W. H. Huber and Mrs. George T. Douglas.

Mrs. Wright is the daughter of S. W. Nichols and is a Jacksonville girl who has spent all of her life here. After attending local schools she spent a period of months abroad and has traveled extensively in her home country. A reader of unusual talent, she has as well a special graciousness that has meant many and continued friendships.

Mr. Wright is a son of Mrs. Lena Wright, a long time resident of this city. After completing his education here in Jacksonville, Mr. Wright for a number of years was a successful real estate broker in Los Angeles. He returned to Jacksonville several years ago in order to be with his mother, and is the manager and largely interested in the People's Furniture Co. He is also the manager of the Grand Opera house and is accounted one of the progressive and capable young business men of Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright left very soon after the ceremony in their automobile and will spend a few days in Chicago before their return to Jacksonville, when they will be at home at 717 West College street.

A great many gifts gave evidence of the good wishes of friends and they begin their married life under very happy auspices.

Among the guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reinbach, Mr. and Mrs. Corson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis and children, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kaufman, all of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bean, Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Huber and children of Elgin.

I. C. GRADUATES TAKE BACKWARD LOOK

Reunions of Classes of 1872 and 1897 Held Wednesday Night With Unique Surroundings

It was not possible for all members of the class of 1897 of Illinois college to be present for the 25th reunion. However, a number of the class members were present at the banquet and reunion held Wednesday night at the home of Capt. W. A. Kirby on Mound avenue and it proved a most enjoyable event. This should really be referred to as a joint event, for two members of the class of 1872 were present, Julian P. Lippincott and W. D. Wood.

The banquet had its unusual features and was served in the loft of the barn at the home of Capt. Kirby. This place was chosen because twenty five years ago it was often the scene of festivities of the class of 1897.

Orange and black streamers were used for table covering the class colors, and bales of hay furnished more or less comfortable seats. The lighting was from lanterns, so all the arrangements were of a somewhat primitive kind except for the menu, which was altogether modern and up to date. Included in the company were Dr. Henry Kirby of Chicago; Harry N. Kirby, secretary of the Katz Adv. Co. of New York City; Rev. Clyde L. Hay of Chicago, field representative of the Northern Illinois conference in Sunday school work; J. Cordon Carter, Peoria attorney; Harry L. Griswold, White hall banker, and Charles A. Johnson, vice president Elliott State bank of Jacksonville.

Dr. E. W. McBratney of St. Louis and S. W. Baxter of East St. Louis were expected but sent messages indicating that their plans had been changed at the last moment.

Along with the joy certain to mark such an occasion there was a touch of sadness because of the fact that four members of the class are now deceased. The list includes L. E. Billigan, son of the late Dr. Harvey W. Milligan; Brown McIlvane, son of Mrs. Thomas McIlvane of this city; Leonard Masters, son of Mrs. S. D. Masters, and P. E. Bradley, formerly of New York City, a nephew of Dr. John Bradley, for several years president of Illinois college.

HISTORICAL BOOK AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Local Library Receives Captain John Henry's Scrap Book—Will Be of Great Value as Reference Book.

A very valuable historical book was presented to the Jacksonville Public Library yesterday in the form of "Captain John Henry's Scrap Book." The book contains newspaper clippings about the early history of Jacksonville and Morgan County, and contains a great many little articles written in John Henry's own hand.

The book has been in the possession of the library for a number of years but Mr. Rollo Wells of St. Louis, who was in Jacksonville and made an address at the Illinois College commencement, became interested in the great historical value of the book, and he had the volume rebound and repaired.

Mr. Wells presented it to the library yesterday morning and W. B. Rogers and Mrs. O. F. Buffe as members of the board of directors of the library, received it. Mayor E. E. Crabtree, President C. H. Rammelkamp and Edward Goltra of St. Louis, were present when the book was presented.

The volume has been placed in the historical collection and will be one of the valuable reference books at the local library.

TELEPHONE COMPANY WAS GREAT STORM SUFFERER

The Illinois Telephone company had a large force of workmen busy yesterday repairing damage to wires which resulted from the storm of Tuesday morning. Practically all the phones in the north and west sections of the city are out of commission, and it will of necessity be some days before service can be restored to the normal condition.

The storm wrought havoc with the company's wires in various parts of the city, the only exchanges outside the city which could be reached Tuesday being Alexander and Franklin. However, the crew of workers from Greene county is now busy in this county and everything possible is being done to prepare the damage.

A WORTHY VETERAN
Col. A. S. Nottingham of Pleasant Plains enjoyed the commencement exercises at Illinois College yesterday morning. He was leader of the 70th Illinois Infantry in the civil war and saw his share of the contest and since then has attended many state and national encampments. While at Alton recently he met a man who had seen him while he was on duty in that vicinity and the two had a pleasant interview.

At Indianapolis he asked a man to guide him to a certain hotel and on the way they exchanged names and the man said he used to know a man named Nottingham about 40 years ago and the colonel turned out to be the man.

Another time he was in conversation with a stranger and disclosing his name discovered he had served that man as attorney 40 years before.

The gentleman is yet well preserved and bids fair to attend a good many reunions.

A HISTORIC CANE.
Capt. John Henry, regarding whom Hon Rollo Wells of St. Louis spoke yesterday, was a brother of the late Jesse Henry of Woodson. Jesse Henry's son, J. R. Henry, was in the city yesterday to greet his cousin and brot along a cane probably a hundred years old. Mr. Henry was Captain Henry's only brother and the captain gave him the cane mentioned. It had been given him, according to a silver head on which were engraved the words "Presented to John Henry by Erastus Wells," and he decided it would be an acceptable gift to his only brother. It is kept by J. R. Henry as a valuable heirloom and is an interesting article.

A. B. Chrisman of Merritt was among the city arrivals yesterday.

Annual Report of President Of Illinois College

We are closing a year of unusual importance in the history of Illinois College. It is a year that has been marked by a further increase in attendance, showing a constantly widening opportunity for the College; a raising of scholastic standards, demonstrating the faculty's interest in maintaining the reputation of the College for sound learning; and a substantial increase in resources, which not only will conserve the progress already made, but will enable the College to move forward to a future greater, perhaps, than she has ever known.

As we gather for our annual commencement, we feel with renewed sorrow our great loss in the death of Thomas Worthington. The Board of Trustees has recorded in appropriate resolutions its own deep sense of loss in his death and its appreciation of his services to Illinois College, but I wish in this report to express, as President of the College, my own deep obligation to our honored colleague. He was never too busy to listen to my appeal for advice and aid. He had an intelligent appreciation of the ideals of a Christian College, and his advice was, therefore, uniformly sound. Furthermore, Mr. Worthington set us all a good example in the serious effort which he made to inform himself about the details of the administration of the College. It was this characteristic of his service on our Board which so often made him a leader in our policies and a sympathetic champion of the interests of the faculty. He took an especially warm interest in the effort to increase the endowment fund of the College and the progress of our endowment campaign was due, in no small measure, to his energetic, self-sacrificing efforts. Furthermore, he was interested not only in the College, but in the community in which he lived. In the broadest and best sense of the word, he was a public spirited citizen. We shall all miss him, but none more than I.

The trustees at their annual meeting yesterday elected to membership on the Board, Mr. Pascal Hatch and the Reverend W. H. Marbach, and as Alumni Trustee, upon the recommendation of the alumni, Mr. John A. Barber, '94. As Mr. Frederick C. Tanner, of New York, who did not wish to stand for reelection, retires from his position as Alumni Trustee, we express to him our appreciation of the services which he has rendered to his alma mater. To Mr. Hatch, an alumnus of Washington University and the Harvard Law School, Vice-President of the First National Bank of Springfield; the Reverend Mr. Marbach, an alumnus of Lake Forest College and McCormick Theological Seminary, former U. S. Army Chaplain and now pastor of the local State Street Church, and to John A. Barber '94, a well known attorney of Springfield, Illinois, we extend a warm welcome to our Board. We expect great things from these new members, and I am sure we shall not be disappointed.

COLLEGE FACULTY AND WORK OF INSTRUCTION.

The work of instruction has proceeded with more than ordinary success during the year. The faculty has enacted certain regulations which will undoubtedly tend to raise still higher our standards of scholarship, most important among these being the establishment of an honor point system in the grading of students. Heretofore a student might be graduated from College provided he passed in a certain number of hours, no matter how low his grades might be; henceforth in addition to passing in a minimum number of hours, he must accumulate a certain number of honor points. In other words, not only a minimum quantity, but a reasonable average quality of work is required for graduation. If a student makes barely passing grades in some subjects, he must make higher grades in other subjects. He can no longer win the diploma of the College by making barely passing grades in all of his subjects. Furthermore, in order to encourage and reward superior scholarship, the faculty has established, subject to the approval of the trustees, two Williams honor scholarships, carrying a stipend of $200 each, which are to be awarded annually, one to the man and the other to the woman of greatest promise as a scholar among those students of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes, who are eligible to the Williams scholarships. Appropriate provision is also made for honoring those students who may not be beneficiaries of the Williams Fund and whose rank is equal or superior to that of the recipients of the Williams Fund. The plan is to publish the names of such students as high honor students.

Another very recent development, which will encourage good scholarship at Illinois College, is the establishment of Phi Delta Sigma, an honorary scholarship society—a step taken at the initiative of the faculty. Two juniors and one seventh of the seniors ranking highest, may be elected each year to membership in this society.

The increasing number of students, now taxing the capacity of our plant, has naturally made the faculty less lenient in its attitude towards students who are delinquent in their studies. Since we are finding it difficult to accommodate students, preference should naturally be given to those who show themselves both willing and qualified to take advantage of the opportunities offered in the College. I believe it may truly be said that the present year has witnessed a marked advance in academic standards. I have only praise and admiration for the spirit in which the student body as a whole is co-operating with the faculty in this effort to make the diploma of Illinois College a still higher mark of distinction.

The standardizing agencies in the field of higher education in the United States are now raising their requirements for recognition and accrediting. For example, the North Central Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools, of which Illinois College has long been a member, will henceforth require its members to have a minimum endowment of $500,000 instead of $200,000. Fortunately we need have no apprehension about the ability of Illinois College to meet these new standards.

Present indications are that changes on our faculty will be few or the coming year. Professor Hilda M. Raetzmann, of the department of Modern Languages, has asked for a year's leave of absence in order that she may travel and study abroad—a request which has been granted by the trustees. So far as known at present, this is the only vacancy which will occur on the College faculty. Steps have been taken to find a suitable candidate for this temporary vacancy. Professor Robert O. Busey who came to us last fall on a one year appointment as head of our Modern Languages Department was, by action of the trustees, been appointed the permanent head of that department. We are glad to welcome to our permanent staff such a good scholar and efficient teacher.

By action of the trustees at the annual meeting, the office of Dean of Women has been created and the President has been instructed to recommend in due time a suitable candidate for this position.

In order more adequately to provide for the work in English and public speaking, a new, full time instructorship in that department was created by the trustees last December. Henry C. Caldwell, an alumnus of the College of the class of 1917, has been appointed to this new instructorship. Mr. Caldwell, while a student in college, established an enviable reputation for his literary, dramatic and oratorical ability. Since his student days here, he has taught for a couple of years in secondary schools, has been overseas in the world war, and taken his master's degree at Columbia University. His appointment will enable the English Department to offer new courses in oratory and debate, journalism and American literature.

The appointment of a new instructor in English marks only the beginning of an expansion in our instructing staff which must continue if we expect to meet the situation created by an increasing student body, and to maintain the high standing of Illinois College. As in previous reports called attention to the necessity of providing additional instruction facilities in such departments as Chemistry and Agriculture, and History and the Social Sciences. I must again call attention to the early need of an instructor in physical training for women. If it is now our settled policy, as it unquestionably is, to maintain Illinois College as a co-educational institution, we must make more adequate provision for the health, comfort and special instruction of our girls. It may be added that the plans for a new woman's building on the campus have always contemplated the creation of a Department of Domestic Science.

I insert the statistics showing the preference of students in the selection of their major studies, and the registration in the different departments, the figures representing the average for the two semesters:

Majors.	Department Registration.
Chemistry.....14.	English.....14.
English.....14.5	Mathematics and Physics.....11.5
Mathematics.....8.	Modern Languages.....8.
History and Social Sciences.....8.	Chemistry.....14.5
Modern Languages.....8.	Biology.....28.5
Biology.....14.5	History and Social Sciences.....28.5
Classics.....4.5	Philosophy.....1.
Philosophy.....1.	Classics.....212.
(These numbers are smaller than in previous years since students now select their major subjects at the end of their sophomore year while formerly they made that selection at the beginning of that year.)	Education.....193.
	Bible.....116.
	(A student hour represents one student and one hour of lecture or recitation. The student hours representing a course are therefore found by multiplying the number of students by the number of hours per week the class meets.)

THE LIBRARY.
In the midst of insistent demands for expansion in various directions, we must never overlook the supreme need of a new library building. While not disparaging in any particular the early need for the improvement of the gymnasium, for a new woman's building, and a new commons, I hope we shall steadily press forward in our effort for a new library. Adequate library facilities are essential for the efficiency of every department of instruction, to say nothing of the general cultural influence of a dignified, well equipped library building.

We have spent during the year $895 for the purchase of books and periodicals. The librarian reports that 1549 entries have been made in the accession book since last September. Of this number of accessions, 732 represent books and magazines purchased during the year, while the balance represents the cataloging done from the Hugh M. Wilson, Sarah G. Riddle, and Hiram K. Jones collections. Books have been donated during the year by Dean F. S. Hayden, Mrs. Elizabeth Cole, Miss Maria Fairbank, and Mrs. Van Santvoord Merle-Smith of New York. The number of books loaned, or circulated, during the year was 8651, the largest circulation being in the departments of history, sociology, philosophy, and literature, in the order named. The librarian has adopted the commendable practice of giving new students individual instruction in the use of the library.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC.

A few vacancies will occur on the Conservatory faculty next year. Mrs. Helen Ayers Bullard, who has served so efficiently and acceptably on that faculty for these many years, has resigned her position in order that she may be with her family in Chicago. I cannot speak too highly of the value of her services or give too strong expression to our regret over her departure. Mr. Quast, who has served very efficiently for two years as instructor in voice has decided to devote himself to work in the concert field and will, therefore, not return next year. Neither of these vacancies has yet been filled, but steps are being taken to find suitable instructors for these positions.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. J. Bart Johnson of Jacksonville has been added to the Conservatory faculty as an instructor in band instruments. Reference is made elsewhere in this report to the good work which Mr. Johnson has done during the year as director of the College band.

We congratulate Director Kritch and his colleagues upon the conclusion of another year of very successful work in this department.

ACADEMY HALL.

More girls have been housed in Academy Hall during the past year than in any year since the Jacksonville Female Academy was merged with Illinois College. I must again call attention to the fact that we have practically reached the limit of our accommodations for girls in that dormitory. If additional women in any considerable numbers are to be admitted into the College, new dormitory facilities will soon have to be provided.

STUDENTS.

The number of students in the College continues to increase. The present year 257 students were registered in the College department as compared with 233 in the previous year. A total of 488 different students were registered in all departments during the past year. Attention was called in a previous report to the serious situation which is being created by this constantly increasing number of students. Last fall, for example, every available seat in our chapel was taken, and we were obliged to put extra chairs in the organ loft and aisles. If this increase of students continues, we shall soon be seriously embarrassed unless the plans for additional buildings and equipment are realized. The present year has been notable for the spirit of enthusiasm, loyalty and harmony which has characterized the student body. The increasing number of college students has led in recent years to the creation of several new student organizations. Reference was made in a previous report to the establishment of Osage, an honorary senior society. Although at first there seemed to be some opposition to this organization, it now seems thoroughly to have established itself. Last fall, the girls organized Alpha Eta Pi, a freshman literary society. The plan contemplates that all freshman girls shall automatically become members of this society, and shall not be eligible to membership in the three other girls' literary societies until the end of the freshman year. It is hoped that this arrangement will do away with all social and society distinctions among the freshman girls, and will serve to promote better feeling and a spirit of greater loyalty among them. The old literary societies—Sigma Pi and Phi Alpha—have found it altogether impossible to provide for the large number of men now in College. It was discovered that fully one-half of the men were not in either of the old societies. This condition led, a few weeks ago, to the reorganization of Gamma Nu, a literary society started in 1897, but discontinued about twenty years ago when student attendance was at a low ebb. By action of the trustees, the former Philologist room on the third story of North Crampton Hall has been assigned to Gamma Nu.

Especially noteworthy among the new organizations of the year is the College Band, which has already achieved considerable success and promises to be one of the most popular organizations on the hill. Mr. J. Bart Johnson, as already noted, has served during the year as director of this student band, and by action of the trustees he has been engaged to continue this work next year. It is hoped to make the Illinois College Band one of the best student bands in the state. The Young Women's Christian Association, with the cooperation of faculty women and wives of faculty members, continue to be one of the most active organizations among our students. The girls will send a delegation of six to the Geneva Conference this year. Although the Y. M. C. A. has not been as active as the girls' association, it has shown a greater interest in its work than in the previous year. I refer with great pleasure and strong commendation to the series of special religious services held during the winter under the leadership of Dr. Cleland B. McAfee of the Chicago Theological Seminary. These meetings were among the most successful ever held at the College. Dr. McAfee is a man who always makes a strong appeal to college students, and I consider that he rendered a great service to the College and our student body in the series of meetings which he conducted.

Interest in debate was as keen as usual although our teams were not as successful as in the previous year. With the appointment of the new instructor in English and Oratory, the debating and oratorical interests of the students will undoubtedly be conducted on a much more satisfactory basis.

The faculty continues to publish the relative scholastic standings of the various literary societies. The following were the scholastic standings at the end of the first semester, based on a standard of 3 as perfect:

Agora.....1.74	Alpha Eta Pi.....1.34
Sigma Phi Epsilon.....1.69	Non-Society Men.....1.04
Phi Alpha.....1.67
Gamma Delta.....1.64
Sigma Pi.....1.56
Non-Society Women.....1.39

ATHLETICS.

The subject of athletics has perhaps received more attention from college authorities and the general public during the past year than has any other problem connected with the administration of our colleges. The action of certain football players of two well-known American colleges not only trailed in the dust the athletic honor of their own institutions, but was a "stench in the nostrils" of every true friend of amateur college sport. Nor is it seemly for other colleges in a spirit of self-righteousness to hurl stones at their sister colleges, for many of us are residing in glass houses. Professionalism, over-emphasis of the training of a few experts at the expense of the physical well being of the whole student body, questionable methods of recruiting high school athletes, and of keeping them in college after they get in, expenditures for athletics that are disproportionate to the items in the educational budget, are a few of the evils that every college must seriously consider. The time has come for a house cleaning in American college sport, but great difficulties stand in the way and the task is not an easy one. Sincerity in enforcing both the letter and the spirit of regulations and real cooperation among colleges must be the basis for any effective reform. No college can stand alone in this fight, and if consent to proposed reforms is given with a mental reservation, we shall only move around in a vicious circle. In intercollegiate athletics, as in diplomacy, there is often official ignorance, but not actual lack of knowledge of what is going on.

There is no field of college administration in which the sincere and effective cooperation of alumni and friends is so essential. And yet I am not sure that in this particular matter, alumni and friends on the one side, and college authorities on the other, are really co-operating. The general public seems interested chiefly in seeing the college of their choice win its games without a too scrupulous inquiry of how it is done. The alumni have, or ought to have, a more intelligent comprehension of the situation; but often in their loyalty and enthusiasm they wink at practices which could not officially be approved. What the American Colleges need above everything else is strong backing from their alumni in a policy of reform. Athletics, both collegiate and intercollegiate, are here to stay. Conducted in the right spirit, they will always be a valuable and useful part of college life. We are not, therefore, advocating their abolition, but are only urging that evils which are growing should be checked and not allowed to bring the whole system of college sport into disrepute.

This subject of intercollegiate athletics has recently received special consideration by the Federation of Illinois Colleges, an organization consisting of practically all of the non-state colleges of Illinois. After very thorough discussion, this body came to the following conclusions:

- (1) That the salary paid to the athletic coach should not be higher than that paid to the full professors, and that for colleges to accept special donations from outside sources to apply on the salary of a coach is a very unwise practice.
- (2) That much more emphasis should be placed on mass athletics for the whole student body.
- (3) That college faculties should exert a greater control over the details of intercollegiate athletics than is at present the case.
- (4) That there should be much more adequate physical examination of students, and that no students should be allowed to participate in athletics whose physical condition makes such participation dangerous to their health.

As the discussion of athletics has waxed warm and many evils have been uncovered, it is a great satisfaction to the friends of Illinois College to realize that our athletics are in the hands of one who has so consistently stood for clean sport and honorable methods. Coach Harmon has now controlled the athletic destinies of Illinois College for some ten years, and during all those years, he has not only turned out many successful teams, but win or lose, has always maintained unsullied the honor and good name of his College.

In order to make more adequate provision for the general physical well being of our students and to conduct our athletics as they should be conducted, several improvements must be made. Our gymnasium will have to be reconstructed or an entirely new gymnasium built. I hope the time is not far distant when we shall be able to have the special instructor in physical training for women already mentioned in the discussion regarding the faculty and work of instruction. A beginning has been made in the construction of new tennis courts, and this work should be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. If there is to be much development in mass athletics at the College, the director of athletics will probably have to have additional assistance in his work.

THE ALUMNI.

As a war tests the patriotism of a people, so does a strenuous endowment campaign test the loyalty and devotion of the alumni of a college. Nobly and generously have the alumni of Illinois College responded to the appeal of their alma mater during the two years of our campaign for a new endowment fund. Especially do I appreciate their generous response during the last two months when we had to ask for additional help from all who could afford to give a second or third time. Only the president of the College, recalling hundreds of letters in his office files and hundreds of personal interviews, can fully appreciate the warm and deep loyalty of the sons and daughters of "Old Illinois". Knowing, as I do, what real sacrifices many have made in order to help their alma mater, I look forward with great confidence to the future of the College.

Nor have the alumni, while giving to the new endowment fund, forgotten their annual subscriptions to the Alumni Fund. The Alumni Fund Association, it will be recalled, seeks to consolidate the interests of the alumni and to promote the welfare of the College by collecting annual subscriptions of a moderate amount from a large body of alumni and former students. The association works on the principle that a little help from everybody annually, hurts nobody, and yet helps the College greatly. The association completed last year the tenth year of its existence, and during that decade it raised in subscriptions and special gifts a total of $50,637. While making annual subscriptions to the expense fund of the College, the association has also contributed to the regular college endowment and built up a special alumni fund endowment which amounts at the present writing to $16,265. It is probable that the alumni fund would have made even greater progress during the last few years if the call for subscriptions to the general endowment of the College had not been so urgent. The Sigma Pi committee, under the leadership of Harry J. Dunbaugh, '99, is still at work endeavoring to raise a fund to establish memorial memberships for all of its founders. Phi Alpha has not only already established memorial memberships in the alumni fund for all of its founders, but is endeavoring, under the leadership of W. D. Wood, '72, to complete this year a special fund of $2,000 to provide memorial memberships for prominent members of that society in the years to come.

Three classes are holding special reunions this commencement: the class of 1912, its tenth reunion; 1897, its twenty-fifth anniversary; and 1872 its fiftieth anniversary. To all of these classes, we extend a special welcome. The time has come when some more definite plan for class reunions should be worked out by the Alumni Association. I hope the association will appoint a committee to investigate the practice of other colleges and make some specific recommendations to our alumni.

By cooperation of the trustees and representatives from the Alumni Association, the Alumni Fund Association and the Faculty a movement has been inaugurated for the establishment of an alumni periodical. Personally, I should very much like to see such a periodical established at Illinois College. I feel sure that such a publication can do much for both the College and its alumni. Furthermore, if established, I hope the periodical will be conducted on principles that will make it a real alumni organ, a periodical that will give alumni opinion a chance to express itself and to exert its proper influence in the determination of the policies of the College. If the alumni loyally support their alma mater as they are now doing, they have a right to be heard when general college policies are under discussion.

The following are the alumni and former students whom death

THE WILLIAMS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND.

The death last November of Hobart W. Williams at Cheshire, Connecticut, brings to mind again the great benefactions of this modest gentleman who gave away a fortune to help boys and girls secure an education. The death of Mr. Williams not only released an annuity interest of 20% of the income, which he had retained in the fund, but disclosed an additional bequest of $40,000 to Illinois College as well as to each of the other nine institutions to which he had made his original gift. The Eli B. Williams and Harriet B. Williams Memorial Scholarship Fund now totals, or will when the bequest is paid, about $240,000. All the income of this large fund must be devoted to the aid of deserving students of slender financial means. I sometimes wonder whether friends of the College realize what a great philanthropy this is. During the five years of the existence of the fund, we have already distributed $43,153, to needy students. Hundreds of young men and women have been helped in their ambition to secure a higher education. In order to appreciate fully the far reaching influence of this great benefaction, we must further understand that this fund is a permanent endowment that will continue for all time to come, and that the service which Illinois College is rendering in the cause is only a fraction of the good work that is going on in five other colleges.

THE LA VERNE NOYES SCHOLARSHIPS.

Illinois College is also one of the institutions selected by the trustees of the estate of the late La Verne Noyes to cooperate in the distribution of the large scholarship fund left by this well known citizen of Chicago. These scholarships are restricted to men who served in the late war and their descendants. At present five of these scholarships have been assigned to Illinois College. The stipend amounts to all of the tuition charge.

As we mention these scholarship funds, we do not forget the many good friends who have, in years past, established some thirty memorial scholarships. Illinois College has throughout its history been interested in helping young people of slender financial means.

RECONSTRUCTION OF STURTEVANT HALL.

Plans are under way for completing the reconstruction of Sturtevant Hall this summer. A new and greatly improved chemical laboratory has already been provided on the first floor, and it is now the intention to make similar provisions for the department of biology on the second floor. The large east room on the second floor will be fitted up as a science lecture room with seats on the amphitheater plan. It may be remarked that the new chemical laboratory on the first floor is already proving inadequate for the large number of students who are registering in that department, and as soon as funds permit, the basement of this building will be fitted up as an additional chemical laboratory. It is hoped that this improvement may also be made during the summer. About $28,654 was realized from the insurance on this building but over $33,000 has already been spent on the reconstruction and improvement up to date. To complete the work as I have outlined will involve an expenditure of about $20,000 more. We shall have to look to good friends of the College for these necessary funds. Old Sturtevant Hall with its graceful tower is not only a thing of beauty on our campus, but it has a hold on the affections of many older alumni who have studied within its walls. Among these alumni are surely some who will be glad to help us in completing the reconstruction of the building.

CAMPAIGN FOR NEW ENDOWMENT.

I am pleased to announce that the new endowment fund of $375,000 has been, this day, completed. I hardly know how to give expression to the joy and gratitude that must fill the heart of every graduate, officer, and well-wishing friend of the College. For two years, we have been at work at this important task and today we may at last say "Victory is Ours". It seems to me on such an occasion, when a great victory has been won in the cause of Christian education, there is only one adequate way in which we can express our gratitude, and that is by thanking Almighty God in whose name the College was founded and for the promotion of whose Kingdom it still exists.

The campaign has come to an end too recently to enable me at this time to give a full report of the details of this effort. I can mention now only a few salient facts and outstanding impressions.

Outside of the generous subscription from the General Education Board, one of the most noteworthy gifts to the new fund is one of $50,000 made by a staunch friend of Christian education who has only recently given his reluctant consent to the disclosure of his name. I presume that his innate modesty would prevent him even now from allowing his name to be used, except for the fact that his donation is made in order to establish in the College a memorial professorship in honor of his father, and we cannot very well announce the professorship without disclosing the name of the donor. This new and generous friend of Illinois College is Mr. Henry F. Scarborough of Payson, Illinois, and his gift is made to establish in Illinois College, as a tribute to his father, the Joel K. Scarborough Memorial Professorship of Biblical Literature. According to the terms of the gift, the chair may include such other subject or department of study as may seem wise to the trustees of the College. Joel K. Scarborough, in whose memory this professorship is established, was a man well deserving to have his name thus honored, and his strong Christian personality thus perpetuated in the lives of hundreds and thousands of young people who will receive instruction and inspiration from this professorship. The elder Scarborough, you will be interested and glad to learn, belonged to that same sturdy, New England stock that helped to found Illinois College. Indeed his sister was the good wife of Mason Grosvenor of sacred memory in the history of Illinois College as a member of the Yale Band. It is thus evident that the man, in whose honor this memorial has been established, was intimately associated with that band of young men who lighted the lamp of learning on this hill. The friends of the College will probably be interested in a few additional facts about Joel K. Scarborough. He was born, it seems appropriately, as we think of many of our early friends and founders, in the state of Connecticut. When a mere boy of fourteen, he came in 1838 to the village of Payson in Adams County, Illinois, where an uncle had already settled. Although not a college graduate, he was, nevertheless, throughout his life, a close student and a loyal champion of the cause of education. A farmer by occupation, he became one of the leading citizens of his community and county. For seventy-one years, he served as clerk of the Congregational Church of Payson, and for nearly forty-three years, he was superintendent of its Sunday School. He lived a full life in years, as well as in deeds of Christian kindness and public service, for he was over ninety when he died in 1915. All honor to the father and thanks to the son who is perpetuating his father's memory and influence by establishing this professorship, which will be a monument more enduring than bronze and certainly more useful.

Still other memorials in this new endowment fund bear testimony to filial affection and interest in the cause of higher education. There is, for example, the Mason Grosvenor Memorial fund of $10,000 given by his great granddaughter. It is especially appropriate that Mason Grosvenor should be thus memorialized for, as students of the history of the College will recall, it was Grosvenor who as a young student in Yale College, conceived the plan which led to the organization of the Yale Band. Nor in the list of memorials of our College would we forget the Reverend William Kirby Memorial Library Fund of $2000. Library funds, I may say in passing, are especially helpful in the work of the College. There is time to mention only very briefly the other memorials in the new fund, such as

STOCK MARKET
PRICES HIGHER

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 14.—Subject to intervals of profit-taking, additional recovery of the stock market was steady. Sales amounted to 975,000 shares.

The higher trend was manifest from the outset and confirmed the growing conviction that Monday's sharp setback was really in the nature of a much needed readjustment of an unyielding technical position. Oils, motors and rails were the most prominent features. Realizing was most evident in the final hour when money tendencies were firmer but net gains of 1 to 2 points were made by many leaders.

Studebaker was the outstanding feature retaining the better part of its advance of almost 5 points.

Cash money opened at three per cent, that quoted prevailing until the session was well spent when the rate rose to 4 per cent presumably as a result of tomorrow's heavy drain on local banks to meet federal interest payments.

Improvement in the principal foreign exchanges was general, but quite moderate. Sterling rates were half a cent over yesterday's low quotations and the suggested advances were 2 to 3 points higher. German marks also showed similar firmness. Liberty 3½s came within a small fraction of their recent record price but a majority of that group closed slightly at the close.

Total bond sales (par value) aggregated $14,750,000.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PRESIDENT OF ILLINOIS COLLEGE

the Francis A. Riddle Memorial Library Fund of $2000; the George W. Moore Memorial Library Fund of $2000; the Stephen R. and Rhoda Tomlin Capps Memorial now amounting to about $16,500;
the Professor and Mrs. Harvey W. Milligan Memorial Library Fund of $2000; the Elizabeth Engelbach Memorial of $1000; the William H. Govett Memorial of $2500; the Athenaeum Endowment; the Jacksonville Female Academy Alumnae Endowment; and the Earl E. Sooy Memorial Fund.

Then, there are the hundreds of subscriptions which have been made, some in large and some in small, but no less generous, amounts, without any special designations. It may interest you to know, for example, that over 1600 people have subscribed to the fund. In that number are 840 alumni and former students—52% of them. Of the living graduates of the College over 58% have given. The following are the alumni classes that have established a 100% record—that is, every graduate of the class has contributed:
1846, 1852, 1854, 1872, 1878, 1894, 1904, 1920, 1922.

Do we need any stronger evidence of the loyalty and devotion of the sons and daughters of "Old Illinois"? Nor would I forget to mention the gifts from the Alumnae of the Jacksonville Female Academy, the Athenaeum and Conservatory. And what shall I say by way of gratitude to the host of loyal friends, who, though never students in the College or any of the affiliated schools, have, nevertheless, given to the cause?

FINANCES.

When the pledges of our present campaign are all paid, our productive endowment will be over $1,000,000. When we recall that seventeen years ago the College had a net endowment of only about $150,000, we realize what substantial financial progress has been made in recent years. When these pledges are paid, the value of plant and endowment together will be about $1,340,000.

I am glad to report that once more the financial year has closed without a deficit in the current account. On the contrary, there is a balance of about $300 for the year. I sincerely hope the finances of the College will continue to be conducted as they have been for the past fifteen years on the good business principle that we will not spend money which we do not have. I believe the policy of the last decade and a half is creating a confidence among friends and alumni that will eventually bring to the College still larger financial support.

It will doubtless be of considerable interest to know that, of the total net income available for running the College, the endowment furnishes 63.6%; tuition actually paid by the students, 30.2%; miscellaneous sources, such as Alumni Fund Association, gifts to current expenses, etc. 6.2%. It is evident, therefore, that our students are themselves actually paying less than one-third of the cost of their education.

THE FUTURE.

Much has been said about the past of Illinois College. The time is not far distant when we shall celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Illinois College, and when much more will be said about a history that has been both long and honorable, but our eyes just now, I believe, are directed to the future. There never was a time when the outlook for the College was brighter.
Secure financial foundations have been laid, and we have, as it were, found solid rock on which to build. A host of new friends have been found among whom Mr. Scarborough is one of the most devoted and generous. Furthermore, old friends and alumni have shown an interest and a loyalty that would give courage to the heart of any college president or board of trustees. Perhaps most important of all is the constantly increasing body of students who are knocking at our doors for admission. It is no longer a question of finding enough students to fill our buildings and laboratories, but rather a problem of providing buildings and equipment adequate to take care of this increasing group of young people who believe that Illinois College is the best place for them to secure a higher education. The College has before it, in other words, an expanding and inviting field of service to the state and nation in helping to train young men and women for leadership. In such a period of possible expansion, we must hold fast to our ideals and best traditions. I am sure we have no ambition to make Illinois College merely a big institution. It ought always to remain a college in the best sense of the word, true to collegiate ideals and traditions. A first class college, and not a second class university should be our goal.

The question may well be asked what are some of the important details of the program before us. I believe the time is at hand when we must seriously and energetically take up the problem of providing more adequate buildings and material equipment. During the past decade and a half, our time and effort have been given almost exclusively to increasing the endowment of the College. The time has come when the same effort and energy must be put into the problem of securing new buildings and equipment. We must proceed at once with the effort to secure the new library building, or rather, I should say, we must continue that effort. I have just spoken of the completion of the New Endowment Fund, but it must not be forgotten that we have only partially completed the task to which we set our hands two years ago, for a new Library Building was part of that task. Within the next few years, we must, as already mentioned, either reconstruct the Gymnasium, or build a new one; we must provide a Woman's Building, a new Commons and a new Science Hall. This is the material equipment needed to make Old Illinois a New Illinois, adequate to take care of the five or six hundred college students who undoubtedly are ready to come if we are able to make adequate provision for them. Such a building will require the expenditure of about $550,000. To maintain these building programs and provide a faculty worthy of such an institution will require about $700,000 of new endowment. In other words, we need, in order to meet the situation and do the work before us, a total of about one and one quarter million dollars.

Is it too much to hope that this program of future development can be substantially completed by 1929, when we shall celebrate our hundredth anniversary? Certainly that should be our aim. Many alumni, former students and friends have given most generously out of their modest means in the present campaign. If this greater development and greater service of which I speak are to be realized, some men and women of large means and of large vision, anxious to do something worth while for their own and future generations, must now help. May that kind Providence, which has always guarded and guided the destinies of this old College, now give us the faith and courage to march on into a promised land—not of ease, but of hard work, sacrifice and great service to our fellow men.

WANT HOMES FOR MOTHERLESS KIDDIES

University of Chicago Settlement Asks Social Service League to Get Homes for Four During Summer Months.

The University of Chicago Settlement has written to the Jacksonville Social Service League asking them to find homes for the summer months, for four little motherless girls. The oldest girl, Helen, wants to be in a home where she can have her little sister Anna, aged four, with her.
Helen is a splendid little housekeeper and has looked after her home and kept house for her father and little brothers and sisters since the death of her mother. She would be a great help in any home and can take care of herself and her little sister. The other two little girls can be cared for in other homes if necessary.

These children are under the supervision of the settlement and the settlement workers feel that a summer in the country will mean more than anything else to these little girls who are forced to spend all their days in the dreary, hot, dirty slums of Chicago. Anyone who is interested in giving these kiddies a home for the summer can get further details by calling the Social Service League.

The Social Service League also wants to find homes for five attractive children who live in Jacksonville. There are four girls aged twelve, four, nine and one and a half years, and one boy five years old. The League hopes to get homes in the country near Jacksonville where these little children may be put.
